

The 2018 trout stocking program in the Willamette Valley is undergoing a transition. The US Army Corps of Engineers has shifted the way that they fund the production of mitigation trout (trout provided to compensate for fish lost due to the construction of dams in the Willamette Valley). These trout were previously produced by ODFW, but will now be supplied by a private contractor. Because of the coordination required among the three parties, the complete stocking schedule had not been produced for the 2018 fishing season. Updated stocking schedules will be posted once they have been finalized. Thank you for your patience as we work to make this transition successful for anglers.
