

Photo by Trevor Diemer

HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVE:

Declining and Expanding Species of the Willamette Valley in the Past 100 Years

Photo by Claire Puchy

David B. Marshall, Senior Editor
Birds of Oregon: A General Reference

Notable Landbird Species Status Changes— Willamette Valley, Coast, and Cascade Foothills

Species New to Area or Portions Thereof	Species Having Recovered or Increased
Anna's Hummingbird Barred Owl Western Scrub Jay Brown-headed Cowbird House Finch	Osprey Bald Eagle Peregrine Falcon Red-tailed Hawk

Photo by Phillip G. Engstrom

Notable Landbird Species Status Changes— Willamette Valley, Coast, and Cascade Foothills

Declining Species

Ruffed Grouse	Horned Lark	Hermit Warbler
Mountain Quail	Olive-sided Flycatcher	Yellow-breasted Chat
California Quail	Willow Flycatcher	Vesper Sparrow
Marbled Murrelet	Violet-green Swallow	Lazuli Bunting
Northern Spotted Owl	Western Bluebird	White-crowned Sparrow
Common Nighthawk	Swainson's Thrush	Western Meadowlark
Lewis' Woodpecker	Yellow Warbler	Purple Finch

Extirpated Species: California Condor and Yellow-billed Cuckoo